

FRIDAY EVENING, OCT. 23, 1896.

BOTH THE Maine U. S. Senators are now on the stump, speaking in behalf of the workingmen, for whom they profess to have so much regard, and whose social and civil rights they say are threatened by wages to be paid in fifty cent dollars. Indeed, to prevent any such payment, with its consequent failure to recognize the social equality of the working man, they would start another war against the South—though they took no part in the last one. So they talk; but actions speak louder than words, and well-informed workmen know it was only two or three years ago, that on a hot day, one of the Maine Senators referred to, complained in the Senate that a moment before, while standing at the bar of the restaurant of that body, one of the workmen at the Capitol, wearing a blouse, and with his boots on his face, had the presumption to walk up beside him and order a glass of beer. The great interest Northern plutocrats and their paid agents are now expressing in behalf of laborers, and their vehement objection to paying their wages in fifty cent dollars, may "deceive gudgeons, but not the intelligent white workingmen of the South."

SENATOR BUTLER, chairman of the populist national committee, says he has positive information of the fact that the republicans intend to try to control the coming election by the use of money. He therefore advises the supporters of Mr. Bryan to place coal, game men on guard at every precinct, sharp enough to expose these schemes, and to use the best and most legitimate methods to frustrate them. He says "I believe that the penitentiaries will be the proper place for all scoundrels who try to prevent an honest election. Coercion, intimidation, and every other un-American means has been used so far, but it will become a more serious matter to make the ballot box itself the scene of rottenness and fraud." If the plutocrats succeed in buying the Presidency for Mr. McKinley, it is by no means certain that there will ever be another Presidential election in this country. The people are mad now, and it will not do to provoke them still further.

MR. CLEVELAND made another one of his trite and platitudinous speeches yesterday, to the students of Princeton College, in which, however, he went far out of his way to lug in politics and to laud his present side of them, and said he recognizes the "practical necessity of political parties and their desirability, and the wholesome differences of opinion touching governmental policies." But if he was sincere in what he said, he must think now, as he did four years ago, when he was the nominee of a national convention, that the only way of maintaining political parties is by "submitting to the arbitrament of such conventions" which, he now not only refuses to do, but is, however, the instigator, promoter and main support of the present bolt from such an arbitrament.

WHILE the treatment Secretary Carlisle received at Covington yesterday is deprecated by all law abiding and right thinking people, Mr. Carlisle, if a sensible man, should not be surprised at it. If he had come out openly in favor of McKinley, it is more than probable he would have received respectful attention. But it naturally goes against the grain of democrats to hear a man they have promoted and whose interests they have served for many years, proclaim himself, in their presence, a democrat, while at the same time he advocates the election of the republican ticket, under the transparent disguise of a decoy, and the man with the assurance to do so, should have the fortitude to stand the consequences without complaining.

THE TRIP the ex-federal generals have been making through the Northwest, telling the ex-federal soldiers of that section to vote now as they shot during the war of the "rebellion," came to a close at Detroit yesterday, when the band played "Marching Through Georgia," "We'll Hang Jeff Davis on a Sour Apple Tree," and "John Brown's Spirit is Marching on," when General Sickles said he wished a pin could be attached to each soldier's vote and then stuck into Bryan, and when Corporal Tanner called the author of "Coin," a "whelp of hell."

COLONEL MORRISON now says that while he is opposed to the election of the democratic ticket in his State, he is in favor of the national democratic ticket. This does not improve his standing with his party. A good and true democrat will support his personal enemy, if he be the nominee of his party, knowing as Mr. Cleveland did four years ago, that doing so, is the only means by which the organization, and consequently the effectiveness, of his party can possibly be maintained.

SENATOR LODGE, the putative father of the force bill, who is now advocating the election of Mr. McKinley, who spoke and voted for that bill, says he is surprised to find by a trip through the West that while the native population is in favor of silver, the foreign born element is for gold. His discovery is favorable to Bryan, as there are more native, than foreign born citizens of the West.

A FOURTH class postmaster in Kansas has been compelled by Postmaster General Wilson to resign the secretaryship of a democratic committee in his State, but Mr. Wilson himself can abandon his office and go upon the stump to advocate the defeat of the national democratic ticket. No man ever disappointed his friends more than Mr. Wilson has done.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The executive departments are beginning to show the thinning out incident to an approaching Presidential election. All the departments have furnished campaign orators and from the Treasury alone no less than fifteen officials or employees are actively engaged in campaign talk, including Secretary Carlisle and other high officials.

In his speech to the new Turkish minister to-day the President said: "I am highly gratified at the assurance you convey to me of the friendly purposes and motives which inspire your imperial master and which he has charged you to express and subserve, and I can cordially promise you all possible cooperation and a full appreciation of all that may be done by the Turkish government toward the attainment of objects which I earnestly desire in the interest of continued good will."

Senator Faulkner, chairman of the democratic congressional committee, talked more positively this morning about the result of the election than at any time up to the present. "Wm. J. Bryan will be the next President of the United States," said he. "The information that has come to us during the last week shows that nothing can now stem the tide that has set in his direction."

The Virginia democratic association of this city has given certificates for half-price tickets to about two hundred voters of their State sojourning here to go home and register, half of them to Richmond people. Of course all of them are democratic voters. There seems to be a great deal more interest manifested by Virginians here in the present campaign than there was in that of 1892—the reason being, they say, the fact that there is no uncertainty about the democracy of the man who now heads their ticket.

Mr. Douglass, in his speech at the free-silver meeting at Ballston, in Alexandria county, night before last, in presenting the regatta of Mr. Edmund Burke, formerly Commonwealth's Attorney for the county, and until the present campaign an able and effective advocate of the republican party, said Mr. Burke instructed him to say that while business engagements prevented his attendance, he was with the meeting in spirit, and advised all his republican friends in the county to vote for Bryan, and therefore for their own true interests.

Wrong as it may be for them to do so, nearly every democrat here to-day when asked about the egging Secretary Carlisle received at his home last night, responded, "it served him right." They all say he would not have been interrupted if he had declared for McKinley, but his imputation upon the intelligence of his hearers by advising them to vote the decoy duck ticket that was too much for them to stand.

A democratic lawyer of this city who has been campaigning in Kentucky says the talk here about the uncertainty of that State is incomprehensible to him. He says Kentucky will give forty-five thousand majority for Bryan, for the reasons that all the democrats who refused to go to poll at the last election, will vote next Tuesday week, and that thousands of republicans will vote the silver ticket, and besides, and he, for the reason that Mr. Carlisle is unpopular in his own district. The nomination of Breckinridge, too, said he, by the republicans, will hurt the republican ticket in the State.

Rev. George W. Carter, of Virginia, formerly secretary for Bruce, the negro ex-Senator from Mississippi, and whose troubles with his church have been narrated in the newspapers, is now in the paid service of Mr. Hanna, making speeches for McKinley in Ohio. Mr. Thomas Young, the well-known carriage manufacturer of this city, says that most all the people he talks with here are for free silver, and that it is pretty much that way in Prince George's and Charles counties, Maryland.

At democratic headquarters to-day it is reported that intelligence from the West and Northwest is of the most most favorable character, and that Bryan's star is evidently in the ascendant. That the republicans are rattled, they say, is made patent by the wild and incoherent prophecies they are making as to the result of the election.

The superintendent of the bureau of printing and engraving recently issued an order against the women employees of that bureau appearing there in their abbreviated bicycle skirts, but some of the pretty ones got around him and induced him to revoke it.

Ex-Congressman Bowen of Virginia, republican, was at republican headquarters here to-day, trying to get pecuniary assistance for his party's ticket in the 9th district of his State, in which he says, the contest between Williams, democrat, and Walker, republican, is nip and tuck, with odds, he fears, on tuck.

At labor headquarters here it is said that with the possible exception of that of the Carnegie and glass works, the labor vote of the country will be cast practically, as a unit for Bryan, and that such is the opinion of the most reliable labor leaders. Persistent efforts have been made to buy this vote, they say, but that with few exceptions they have proved failures.

Major O. E. Hine, a prominent republican of Fairfax county, here to-day, says he doesn't allow his political feelings to run away with his judgment, and that while he thinks the democratic vote in his county may be somewhat reduced, he is almost certain the county will go democratic.

Mr. Andrew Lipscomb left here this evening from Clifton Forge, Virginia, where he will speak for Bryan and Sewall. He says it was a waste of good material to throw good eggs at Secretary Carlisle. Lipscomb, who has been speaking in the 7th Virginia district, says Governor O'Ferrall has few friends there, and that the majority for Hay, the democratic candidate for Congress, will exceed the democratic majority in that district two years ago.

Miss Mai Greenwell of Alexandria has been engaged as assistant soprano at St. Mary's Catholic Church, in this city.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Mr. Bryan is confident his trip in the West is winning a victory for him.

Benjamin F. Say has been appointed keeper of the light-house at Cedar Point, Maryland, which has just been completed.

General Weyler has issued a proclamation ordering all inhabitants inside the towns in Cuba occupied by the Spanish troops.

The missionary ship Day Spring has been wrecked on a rock north of New Caledonia Island. Nine persons are supposed to have perished.

The town of Kuroff, in the government of Lublin, Russian Poland, has been almost totally destroyed by fire and 3,000 persons are left homeless.

A drought has occurred in the northern part of South Australia, as a result of which the harvest is a total failure. Numbers of farmers are destitute.

Senator Butler, chairman of the populist national committee, has issued a circular urging "the friends of Bryan to be on their guard against the purchase of voters."

The discovery of an electrical battery and wires in the factory at Yonkers where H. J. Andrus was killed by the explosion of a bomb indicates that murder was committed.

Col. W. H. Morrison, of Illinois, denies that he has repudiated the nominal use of platform of the democratic national convention. He will not vote for Altgeld, however.

Rebels in the Philippine Islands are reported to have hanged several priests, roasted others to death, and tortured others to death by cutting off portions of their bodies piecemeal.

Gen. William Birney, of Washington, famous as an abolition leader in ante-bellum days, and a steadfast republican since the Fremont campaign, has bolted McKinley and the gold standard.

Ex-Governor R. E. Pattison, of Pennsylvania, and ex-Governor J. E. Campbell, of Ohio, have agreed to make speeches in behalf of Bryan and Sewall in New York during the next ten days.

A party of Austrian scientists, headed by Baron Foulton von Norbeck, engaged in making investigations in the Solomon Islands, were recently attacked by natives and the Baron and three others were killed.

A dispatch from Summersville, W. Va., tells of the instant death of three men, the serious wounding of another and the severe injuring of two others near that place yesterday morning by the explosion of a sawmill boiler.

A dispatch from Havana says that five columns of Spanish troops have been dispatched to surround the forces of Maceo in the province of Pinar del Rio. The columns are marching separately, but are acting in concert.

Prof. Basil L. Gildersleeve will be given a portrait of himself by students of the Johns Hopkins University and the University of Virginia in honor of Prof. Gildersleeve's twentieth anniversary of his connection with the Johns Hopkins.

The Paris Temps yesterday published a dispatch from Constantinople saying that a conflict had occurred at the Yildiz Kiosk (the Sultan's palace) between the Turkish and Albanian guards, during which several men on both sides were killed.

A special from Akron, Ohio, says: The second victim of the fire which destroyed the large pottery plant of the Whitmore-Robinson Company here early Wednesday morning is now known to be Dr. Tanner, whose right name was Francis Harrison, whose name was made famous by a long fast in which he once indulged.

A disastrous fire occurred in Brooklyn last night, which resulted in the loss of one life, the injury of several persons, and the destruction of property amounting to about $250,000. The five-story brick factory building situated on Seventh street, between Second and Third avenues, was totally destroyed. The building had a frontage of 200 feet, and extended back 150 feet, with a three-story frame extension adjoining.

MR. CARLISLE IN KENTUCKY.

Secretary Carlisle made the first of his series of Kentucky speeches at Covington last night. Odd Fellows' Hall, where he spoke, but which is not a large one, was crowded.

Mr. Carlisle was received with applause when he appeared on the stage. This was followed by vociferous cheers for Bryan from the crowd in the rear of the hall, who also hissed the Secretary.

The cheers continued for some time after Secretary Carlisle began to speak, completely drowning his voice, so those nearest him on the stage could scarcely hear his words. At the same time a crowd occupied the street and rent the air with shouts for Bryan.

The interruption was repeated at frequent intervals during the entire speaking. Now and then a man on the outside would shout, "Carlisle, the traitor!"

After Mr. Carlisle began his speech he stopped and begged the turbulent crowd to leave the hall. The disturbance did not leave, but they interrupted him afterward less frequently.

While Secretary Carlisle was interrupted continuously during his speech and eggs were thrown about the hall, four being thrown at him, the most disorderly scene was at the close of the meeting, when crowds gathered about the exit with insulting remarks. There were many noisy people on the street and they were in such spirit as to threaten violence as well as insult to the secretary. A counter demonstration was held by the democrats in the street in front of the building.

In his speech Mr. Carlisle said the government should be taken out of the banking business by retiring and cancelling every one of the notes issued by it, "thus forever stopping the demand upon the treasury for their redemption in gold or silver."

After the meeting the mayor and chief of police furnished a detachment of twenty police, who escorted Secretary Carlisle to the residence of Mr. Frank Helm.

Assistant Secretary of War Doe has written a letter to E. C. Wall, democratic national committeeman from Wisconsin, announcing his support of Bryan and Sewall.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

The Bryan, Sewall and Rixey club held a meeting at the Opera House last night which was fairly well attended.

Mr. John H. Strider presided and called attention to the fact that Saturday was the last day of registration. He then introduced Mr. John M. Johnson.

Mr. Johnson said his apology for appearing a second time during the campaign before an Alexandria audience was his great interest in the presidential election; he believed if the cause he advocated prevailed 50 per cent. of the people in the country would be benefited; he had conscientiously studied the silver question for two years and believed he was on the right side. He then supplemented what he had said on the subject in his previous speech by additional facts to show how the depreciation of silver by its demonetization and the appreciation of gold had brought about hard times in the country. He ridiculed the statement of the Palmerites (the pall bearers of the republican party) that they were actuated by their conscience in the course they were pursuing; said they had taken a position which had been abandoned by both the democratic and republican parties—the gold standard—and declared that they had organized to defeat in a treacherous manner the democratic party. Having been members of and having acted with the democratic party, he said they should have aided by the will of the majority, and that he would have more respect for them if they came out straight for the republican party, as a secret foe was more to be dreaded than an open enemy. In referring to the money question he stated that Daniel Webster had said it was constitutional to destroy the value of one money metal—silver, it was constitutional to destroy the value of the other—gold. Mr. Johnson then enumerated the promises the republican party had made of prosperous times if the people would have confidence and accept high tariff and the repeal of the silver bill, and asked if any of these promises had been fulfilled. He showed that the statements made by the republicans that over production was the cause of depreciated prices were incorrect and said that the increase of population was not taken into consideration in these statements. He then compared the prices of farm products, cattle and horses and real estate of twenty years ago with those of the present time, and showed by clear reasoning that the demonetization of silver—the destruction of value of one-half the money of the world—was the chief cause of the declining prices. He then read what Allane, of Belgium, and Bis marck, of Germany, had said of the effect of the demonetization of silver and Mr. Johnson said that the people having found the cause of depression could easily apply the remedy. He then told how the farmers, if they got good products, would spend their money with the merchants and how everybody would be benefited, and showed how the prosperity of the country depended upon the farmers. He then read what Palmer, Carlisle, McKinley, Ingersoll, Flower and Ingalls had said a few years ago in favor of free coinage and of the distress which would follow the demonetization of silver, and asked if what they had then predicted had not come to pass. He said there would never be prosperity till silver was restored to its full functions as money, and it never would be restored if we waited for England, which country was immensely benefited by the gold standard. The United States, he urged, should take the lead in the free coinage of silver, and he denied the statement made by the republicans that this would injure the workingmen, holding that the farmers and working men would both be benefited by free coinage as would also both the creditor and debtor classes, as such free coinage would bring about a greater circulation. He closed by urging loyal support of Bryan, but said even if he was defeated the warfare for free coinage would go on.

Mr. Johnson's speech abounded in sound argument and was attentively listened to throughout its delivery.

Mr. Strider announced that Mr. John F. Rixey would speak at the Opera House next Tuesday night.

THE ARCHBISHOPS.

The archbishops of the Catholic Church held their annual meeting yesterday afternoon at the Catholic University, in McMahon Hall, in Washington.

The principal matters of interest which were dealt with by the archbishops were the provisions made for the Catholic University, the distribution of the money for the Indian mission schools and the adoption of a motion to revise the catechism.

The Indian school subject will be considered to-day in Baltimore, to which city those in charge of this special matter have adjourned. Those who will consider the support of the schools are Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ryan, Archbishop Corrigan, and Archbishop Kain, representing the church.

The parochial school question did not come up for consideration, as had been expected, and the expressions were general among members of the board after the meeting that this subject had ceased to be a source of difference or vexation.

In reference to the catechism, it was decided to revise the one now in use, which was adopted by the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore, and the matter was placed in the hands of Archbishop Kain, of St. Louis.

DARED HIM TO SHOOT.—On Tuesday the State Gazette, a republican paper of Point Pleasant, W. Va., of which Mrs. George W. Pallenbarger is editor, contained an article which ex-Congressman James Copehardt, a democrat, took as personal to himself, and which, thus taken, was offensive. Yesterday afternoon Copehardt met Mrs. Pallenbarger's husband, a lawyer and republican politician, on South Main street and mentioned the article. Copehardt, who is a horseman and farmer, had been driving and had his whip in his hand. The interview was unsatisfactory, and Copehardt assaulted Pallenbarger with the whip, cutting him several times about the face and head before he was interfered with. Pallenbarger drew a revolver, but Copehardt stood his ground and dared Pallenbarger to shoot. Pallenbarger pocketed his pistol and walked away, declaring his intention to have legal redress. The men are about evenly matched physically.

The chairman of the central committee of free silver republicans of South Dakota claims that State for Bryan by 8,000 majority.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

The Fredericksburg fair closed yesterday. It was not the success expected.

The remains of W. T. Rambusch, the defaulting banker, who committed suicide at Fredericksburg, were last night shipped to Juneau, Wis., in accordance with the wishes of the dead man's wife.

The ladies of the Confederate Memorial Association met at the Museum, in Richmond, yesterday for the purpose of receiving the flag of Gen. Gustavus W. Smith, presented to them by the Pickett Camp.

Mr. J. N. Love, a highly respected citizen of Halifax county, committed suicide early Tuesday morning by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun. He had been in poor health for some time and suffered from insomnia.

It is expected stirring times will be witnessed in Virginia politics next week. The silver democrats propose to resist the projected attempt of the anti-Bryan people to have precinct watchers to induce voters to disclose how they intend to vote.

Dr. W. C. Barker, second assistant physician to the Central State Lunatic Hospital, yesterday tendered his resignation of that office, to take effect at the next meeting of the board, to be held next January. Dr. Barker has been the second assistant physician at this hospital since April, 1887.

Nearly Johns, colored, was arrested at Lynchburg yesterday on the charge of attempting to criminally assault a young white girl in Amherst county, and placed in jail in Lynchburg. The girl's name is Watts, and she is a daughter of Mr. James Watts, who resides in Amherst county, about five miles from Lynchburg.

THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

Dear Sir: I have often heard the remark in the city of Washington that Alexandria was a dead town, but I was never convinced of the fact until I was compelled to ride on the new electric railway which connects the two cities. In the past month this corporation has made a 20 per cent. reduction in the salaries of its employees, and in addition to this has added 33 per cent. to the tickets of the workmen. Now if this corporation made this increase in order to give it to their employees by increasing their wages, not a word would be said by any commuter, but when they cut down the wages of all their employees at least 20 per cent., and simultaneously add 33 per cent. to the workmen's ticket (that is, by refusing to sell the 50 cent ticket) and when the people are compelled to ride in cars without heat or convenience of any kind and have to spend from thirty to fifty minutes on the road between this city and Washington, it is time for some one to register a protest. I would suggest that this corporation take the 53 per cent. they want to put in their coffers and furnish each of those who are compelled to travel on this road with a bottle of cough syrup, in order to counteract the effects of the cold contracted. Now these same men talk of being friends of the working men. I hope when the city grants another charter it will first inquire as to whether or not the corporation has money enough; and second, as to whether they have the capacity to run a railroad, and not foster upon us in place of our good local steam-train service such a miserable failure. Lord, deliver us from this ancient service before the chilly winds of winter blow over us.

WANTS THE WHIPPING POST.

ALEXANDRIA, Oct. 22.

To the Editor of the Alexandria Gazette:

As a citizen and tax payer I hope you will keep "pounding away" to re-establish the whipping post for the punishment of such vagabondish blacks and whites as referred to in to-day's issue. It is clearly evident they commit some crime to receive a 30 or 60 day sentence in order to be fed and warmed. It is absurd to impose a fine, as 9 times out of 10 they have not the money, and then the tax payers are put to the expense of their support during time of sentence. A good whipping will soon rid the city of such trifling, thieving vagabonds. We want to get them out of the city and not sentence them to good food and warm fires. There are more loafers to the square inch in Alexandria than any city in the country, and the whipping post would rid us of the most objectionable ones. Urge the law to be put in force.

A TAX PAYER.

DANIEL IN PORTSMOUTH.—Senator Daniel received in Portsmouth yesterday what was, without doubt, one of the grandest ovations he ever had in that section of the State. A crowd, estimated at three thousand people, assembled at League Park, in which the speaking took place, and at times went wild with enthusiasm. Senator Daniel was presented to the audience by Mr. W. A. Young, democratic candidate for Congress, and in a speech of more than two hours held the close and undivided attention of his audience. His speech was wholly devoted to a discussion of the free silver plank in the democratic platform and a mild arraignment of the bolters. Hundreds of ladies were present and their enthusiasm was almost as hearty as that of the men. It was undoubtedly in every respect the biggest political meeting ever held in Portsmouth. Last night Senator Daniel addressed a large open-air meeting in Berkeley.

BRYAN IN INDIANA.—Clear, cool, autumn weather, with just enough warmth from the sun to make an overcoat unnecessary, favored William J. Bryan in his cross-country tour through Indiana yesterday. Every town along the line of his progress to Terre Haute, where his campaign in that State ended last night, made a holiday of his coming. Free silver barbecues were held at two of the places visited, and scores of sheep, oxen, and pigs were offered as sacrifices to the exponent of 16 to 1. The enthusiasm was so great that left no doubt as to its sincerity. It was wild, almost hysterical at times, and quelled, if it did not exceed, the most demonstrative welcoming ever received by Mr. Bryan.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cures colds, croup and whooping cough. It is pleasant, safe and reliable. For sale L. Stabler & Co.

TO-DAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

Foreign News.

MADRID, Oct. 23.—General de Rivera, captain general of Madrid, died last evening. His death has created considerable excitement. General Fernando Primo de Rivera was 91 years of age and had had a prominent career, both as a soldier and politician. He first became generally known in the last Carlist war, in which he did good service.

ROME, Oct. 23.—The presidents of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, together with many members of both bodies, presented themselves at the Quirinal to-day and offered their congratulations to the King upon the marriage of the Prince of Naples to the Princess H. de Montenegro, which will take place to-morrow. King Humbert thanked the presidents, senators and deputies for their good wishes.

The Egg Throwing Incident.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 23.—The egg throwing episode at the Carlist meeting in Covington is about as stated in last night's dispatches. As the secretary stepped to the front of the stage to address the audience of his townspeople, two stale eggs were hurled from the rear of the hall. One struck the chandelier in the center of the hall, the substance trickling down upon the audience. The other struck near Mayor Rhinock, who, with his wife, and other ladies, occupied seats in the front row. A couple of minutes later another egg was thrown, which struck the lower edge of the stage. Probably not more than a dozen persons in the hall knew that the eggs had been thrown. Chief of Police Pugh, who was present, made an unsuccessful effort to discover the person who threw the eggs. The only attempt at violence toward Mr. Carlisle was made by a man named Fagin, a plasterer, who, unable to get into the hall, had remained outside. As Mr. Carlisle came out of the hall Fagin excitedly threw a lighted cigar at him, striking him in the face. Fagin then stooped as if to pick up something in the street and throw it, but an officer seized the man and marched him to police headquarters. Mr. Carlisle will leave this afternoon for Bowling Green, his next appointment.

The Case of Sun Yat Sen.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—The Chinese physician, Sun Yat Sen, who a few days ago was seized by emissaries of the Chinese legation, is still detained there as a Chinese political prisoner. Detectives are on watch in order to prevent the smuggling of the prisoner out of the country. The Chinese admit that Sun Yat Sen is a prisoner at the legation and contend that they can do what they like with a Chinese subject within the legation, but the British authorities maintain that the rights of foreign legations are protective only as regards their lawfulness.

Lord Salisbury has made a demand upon the Chinese legation for the immediate release of Sun Yat Sen. The demand of Lord Salisbury was complied with, and Sun Yat Sen was released from the legation at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Catholic Conference.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Corrigan, Ryan and Kain, held a conference here to-day to further consider the subject of Indian schools. In Washington yesterday, Mr. Stephan, head of the Catholic Bureau of Indian Missions, appeared before the churchmen and made a statement of the condition of the schools under their charge with a view to determining what course shall be taken when government aid is withdrawn on July 1 next. He reported that $198,225 of government money was available this year, which is a 50 per cent. reduction from last year. The cardinal and the archbishops will probably apportion the available funds at their meeting to-day. The cardinal regrets that the impression has gone out that there were any dissensions in the directorate of the Catholic University.

The Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—After the opening trading, which was comparatively tame, was over, the market gradually grew in steadiness and shorts feeling that prices were in the way of reacting, began to take in their profits. There was not the faintest suspicion of trouble among commission houses and none is feared unless there should be something unforeseen occur. Prices having advanced 22 to 23 cents without causing disastrous results, it is argued that they should be competent to withstand a 10 cent break. Most commission men have taken precaution to secure liberal margins in order that just such conditions as now prevail might not find them unprepared. At the expiration of the first half hour December was quoted at 72 1/2—21 cents higher than it closed yesterday.

Bishop Whipple Married.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Right Rev. Henry Benjamin Whipple, Bishop of Minnesota, who is now seventy-four years old, was married for the second time yesterday in St. Bartholomew's Church. The bride was Mrs. Evangeline Simpson, a widow, who is still comparatively young. She was a friend of the bishop's first wife. Her husband, who died a few years ago, was Michael Simpson, an aged millionaire cotton manufacturer of Massachusetts, much of whose wealth she inherited. She is now about thirty-five years old. Her relatives live in Saxtonville, Mass. Bishop Potter officiated at the wedding. The affair was a very quiet one.

Rambusch's Suicide Doubtful.

JUNEAU, Wis., Oct. 23.—When a dispatch was received here yesterday stating that the body of Rambusch, the notorious fortune wrecker, was interred at Fredericksburg, Va., notwithstanding it was believed that the reported suicide was another attempt to make him safe from the officers. Many circumstances go to show that the reported suicide was a fake, and it is hard for any of those that knew him to believe that he killed himself. Cases of his rascality are coming to light every day.

BERKELEY, Ky., Oct. 23.—W. B. Snyder, a Palmer elector, was howled down by a mob while debating with a Bryan man last night, at Wises Landing. Several made a rush to do him violence, and stones were thrown in the door of the building. Snyder was urged by friends to retire by a rear door, as several men were awaiting him at the front door with drawn weapons, but, while unable to speak, he remained on the stand fully one hour. After the speaking a general fight followed.

Dispatches from Cuba tell of more insurgent defeats.

Japanese Flight.

SAKAE, Japan, Oct. 23.—The Japanese, who were reported to have been driven out of the island of Sakae, yesterday, with a few hundred untrained savages. The Japanese, both were unconscious and the receiving hospital was full of the wounded. A Japanese sword and a Japanese knife were found near the place where they were slain.

Will Control the Land.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 23.—The lines were obtained here yesterday, whereby the largest tract of land in the world, the land of the United States, is to be sold. The land is to be sold in lots of 100 acres each, and the price is to be $100 per acre. The land is to be sold in lots of 100 acres each, and the price is to be $100 per acre. The land is to be sold in lots of 100 acres each, and the price is to be $100 per acre.

Palmer and Buckner.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Oct. 23.—Booker addressed the crowd here last night and was enthusiastically applauded. The party was composed of both Gen. Palmer and Buckner will speak to-morrow.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Hon. Columbus Delano, Secretary of the Interior, died at his home to-day.
